NETTING WIRE

Netting wire is mainly used as a means of animal control, per example vermin such as rodents and jackals and is also used to control the movement of domestic animals.

Material is available in various heights, apertures and wire diameters, and is supplied in 50m rolls.

Please contact our Structural Steel Division for sizes not listed above.